FLIERS ARE OFF AND UP AGAIN IN ICELAND

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Lieutenants Smith and Nelson, American world fliers, left Hornafjord, Iceland, for Reykjavik, the capital at 9:15 this morning, according to an Exchange Telegraph Company dispatch here.

ABOARD U. S. S. RICHMOND, Hornafjord, Iceland, Aug. 5.—(By Wireless to United Press.)—Today's lap of the American world flight, which was to be resumed by Lieutenants Lowell Smith and Eric Nelson if weather permitted was from Hornafjord, skirting the Iceland coast to Reykjavik.

The little naval flotilla that is guarding the route swung into position, the cruiser Raleigh acting as station ship at Hornafjord, the Billingsley going to Portland, the Reid to a point 20 miles off Reykjavik, while the scout cruiser Richmond, acting as flagship, was due at the fliers' destination at 2 p. m.

Conditions appeared fairly good for flying over the 510-mile route from Iceland, but those at Greenland, whither the airmen go next, were reported most unfavorable.

From now on there will be but two Americans world flight planes, for Lieutenant Leigh Wade has given up hope of rejoining his companions. His plane, the Boston, sank in the sea near the Faroe Islands.

"I am awaiting orders from the War Department," Lieut. Wade said. "But I see no possibility of continuing the flight unless another machine and parts were shipped to Kirkwall."

Neighbor County Gets First Bale

Waco and McLennan County received the first bale of home grown 1924 cotton Monday of this week. A few more bales are expected to be ginned this week in that county. A second bale reached the court house at Waco only a few minutes behind the first one. The first bale will be auctioned off to the highest bidder. Limestone County will likely get its first bale within the next few days. First bales are coming in earlier this year than last, however, it is not expected that steady ginning will be any sooner. Rains over Texas in recent days have caused the prospects ahead of farmers to be darkened to some extent, as the wet weather suggests worms and weevils. No rain has yet fallen here.

LABOR'S ATTACK DIRECTED ON DAWES AT OUTSET

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 5.—Labor's attack in a three cornered presidential tilt must be directed against Charles G. Dawes, an anti-unionist, the campaign committee of the American Federation of Labor decreed here. In the first order to its three million voters the committee sounded a shrill warning against the republican vice presidential nominee and gave the first campaign slogan: "Raise Hell with Hell and Maria." CROWE BELIEVES HE CAN TURN DEFENSE IN TRIAL

By EDWARD C. DERR (United Press Staff Correspondent)

CRIMINAL COURTROOM, Chicago, Aug. 5.—Medical testimony introduced by the defense in the Leopold-Loeb murder hearing will be used against the youthful slayers of Robert Franks by Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, according to plans practically completed today.

Crowe believes he can turn the defense evidence to the advantage of prosecution and force the question of the sanity of Nathan F. Leopold, Jr. and Richard Loeb before a jury.

The State has been given what Crowe terms a "solid grip" by the statement of Dr. William Healy, Boston psychiatrist, that the boys are mentally diseased and mentally unbalanced.

This analysis of the mental condition of the slayers "means nothing more nor less than legal insanity," Crowe told the United Press.

If he can't send the boys to the gallows, Crowe hopes to send them to an asylum for the Criminal Insane. Crowe believes Dr. Healy's assertion shows beyond a doubt the need for a jury to pass on the mental condition of the boys. He also believes the evidence of the defense alienists will convince a jury the youths are insane. Crowe was jubilant at Dr. Healy's statement that the boys were unbalanced.

Clarence Darrow, chief defense attorney, however, showed little concern.

"If he thinks he can turn that against us, let him try it," Darrow said. "He won't get very far."

Further data on the sex life of the slayers is expected from Dr. Bernard Glueck, psycho-analyst of New York. Dr. Glueck has devoted much of his attention to the sex life of the youths as it is related to their criminalistic activities. Dr. Glueck is expected to take the stand after Dr. Healy.

Justice Caverly is much disturbed by the flow of letters from all parts of the country; some of the letters demand hanging, others urge the insane asylum for the boys and still others as for mercy. Justice Caverly holds that the letter writers are open to charges of attempted intimidation of the court.

"Anybody who tries to influence the court is a violator of the law," Justice Caverly declared.

Wakefield Wins Larger Support In Run Off Race

Johnson Wakefield, of Groesbeck, candidate for County Judge of Limestone County, was in Mexia Tuesday. Mr. Wakefield is receiving much encouragement in his run off race. He is being assured daily by scores of voters who did not vote for him in the first primary that they will support him in the second primary, the latter part of this month. His dignified and clear cut statement of the issues of the campaign and the platform that he stands on have undoubtedly won many supporters to his race, according to citizens who keep in touch with county sentiment. The women of the county especially are rallying to his support, their sympathy and help being secured largely by the statement he makes and which his friends also state for him that he is a dyed in the wool prohibitionist.

The gubernatorial race in Missouri held the center of the political stage with five democrats and three republicans after the nomination.

Freestone Test Changes Hands

W. C. Guyler and C. H. Daniels of Tulsa, Oklahoma, are reported as having taken over the Edwards No. 1 acreage which was blocked several months ago by L. A. Smith of Teague. Mr. Smith is retained as Field Manager. The rentals are being revised, the acreage increased and the drilling contract amended to provide for deeper drillings. The hole was down about 1100 feet when drilling was discontinued and the new owners are expected to resume the Eastern Freestone County test within the next few weeks. The contract will call for 4500 feet according to reports. Mr. Guyler, heralded as a man of considerable experience in the oil game, in various fields of the southwest, says that the Edwards formation looks as good, if not better, than anything he has ever drilled. His operations have included drilling in such fields as the Chattanooga pool in Kansas, the Wan pool in Washington county, Okla., and in fields in Pennsylvania where he entered the oil business.

SINCLAIR TELLS WHAT MAKES COMPANIES STRONG

The following is a statement from New York City under date of Aug. 3, addressed by H. F. Sinclair, Chairman of Shareholders of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation, to his shareholders:

At this juncture in the petroleum industry's progress, you may welcome an outline of the steps taken to protect your corporation's interests and assure full participation in the improved conditions which must come.

My investment in the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation is in its common shares. Your interest and mine are identical.

The omission of the common dividend was due to the desirability of conserving cash during the present unsettled condition of the industry as a whole.

This unsettled condition is due to over-production of crude oil, accumulation of excessive stocks of refined products, and recurrent public agitation dictated in part by the selfish motives of demagogues and in part by the sincere criticism of those who do not understand the fundamental principles underlying the petroleum industry.

The first two of these problems will find their own solution, but the third can be solved only by the public. An income statement of all petroleum operations in America combined, undoubtedly would show that the industry is operating at a loss. Demagogues are seeking to hold the industry to that level or force it even lower, and so long as the public gives them sympathetic, or even passive encouragement, they will continue more vigorously to attack not only the petroleum industry, but all other forms of business. Their course leads toward widespread unemployment, general weakening of the country's credit structure, lessened production of the necessities of life, poorer values and ultimate disaster to all American industries.

Your corporation is sound; its earnings are increasing; and additional financing is not necessary.

Under the adverse conditions of the first six months of 1924, the volume of sales increased 10 per cent, and operating expenses were relatively reduced. As a result, though prices were lower, the amount of earnings available for surplus and reserves, after deducting interest charges, was $9,033,103.50, as shown in the income statement herewith.

While this gives evidence of the Company's ability to withstand adverse conditions, it does not reflect the Company's normal earning capacity which is much greater today than ever before. The Company's operations are now more perfectly balanced, its properties are larger and more efficient, and its organization is thoroughly co-ordinated.

The elements of strength of a petroleum organization are:

(1) Extensive holdings in many producing and prospective oil fields, so as to avoid dependence upon any one or several fields;

(2) Facilities for gathering crude oil from its own and other producing properties and of storing large crude oil supplies above ground, as insurance against periods of shortage of production.

(3) Adequate and efficient facilities for transporting crude oil to refineries;

(4) Refining plants so elastic in their operation as to permit the use of various grades of crude oil and the maximum realization from each barrel run through them, and so located with respect to consuming centers as to assure delivery costs as low, if not lower, than those of competitors;

(5) Adequate and efficient facilities for transporting petroleum products from refineries to distributing centers;

(6) Distributing and marketing facilities economically and strategically located with respect to consuming centers and sufficiently extensive to be independent of conditions adverse to any local market.

After more than eight years of steady building, your company now possesses all of these elements in high degree.

In developing the first element of strength, the Company has obtained well distributed holdings in many of the largest oil fields of the United States and in the Republic of Mexico; extensive undeveloped acreage in these fields and in less important producing districts; and millions of acres of prospective oil fields strategically located in various quarters of the globe. The Company's crude oil production is being well maintained during the prolonged period of general over-production and should respond readily to aggressive drilling. The time will come when production throughout the world will be urgently needed.

In the last eight years, the Company's expenditure in obtaining and developing prospective foreign oil lands (exclusive of Mexico) through purchase or lease, or through concessions and concessionary contracts, have been less than 3 per cent. of the total capital expenditures. It is believed that it will share prominently in the world's future petroleum output.

The second and third elements of strength are provided by your company's 50 per cent interest in the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing Company and in the Sinclair Pipe Line Company.

The Sinclair Oil Purchasing Company has crude oil from hundreds of producing properties, and has accumulated a large supply of crude oil above ground. Your company's cash investment were not bought for speculation. Prices of crude oil may go up or they may go down. A paper profit or a paper loss is unimportant. For any large petroleum organization a large storage supply of crude oil is as essential to permanent success as well equipped refineries. It is one of the most important bulwarks of the enterprise. No one can predict when it will be vitally needed, but it is there for use when conditions and prices justify.

The facilities afforded by the Sinclair Pipe Line Company are as efficient as any in existence and adequately meet requirements.

A relatively short pipe line, owned 100 per cent by your company, transports part of the crude oil used by the Houston refinery; local Sinclair lines serve the refinery at Wellsville, N. Y., while the maximum economy in the movement of crude oil to Mercaux (New Orleans) and Marcus Hook, Pa., is by means of your company's fleet of tank ships. Your company owns and operates a pipe line of large capacity at Mercaux, employed to increase the efficiency of transportation from the Panuco fields to the company's ocean terminal near Tampico. Panuco oil, which is of heavy grade, is distributed from this terminal by Sinclair ships to consuming points in the United States and Latin America.

The Company's refining plants have been brought to a high state of efficiency. A 10,000 barrel unit at Houston was added and placed in operation in June, and the Marcus Hook plant should be ready for capacity operation by the end of the year.

Widespread misunderstanding results from judging the relative values of refining plants by comparing their rated capacities. A refinery can be built for a few hundred thousand dollars that could boast a "capacity" as great as one representing an investment of several millions; but under favorable conditions the cheap refinery would yield a smaller percentage of return on the investment, and under adverse conditions the cheap refinery could be operated only at a loss, while the other would yield a profit.

Your company's refining plants, operated on a basis to realize the maximum profits, will handle about 75,000 barrels of crude oil daily. They could nearly double this throughput if not results were disregarded.

The efficiency of these plants has been notably increased by "cracking" installations developed by your company, which yield as high recovery of gasoline as any other "cracking" installation known to be in commercial operation.

Only about one-third of the total refining capacity of the country is equipped with any type of "cracking" installation. Including Marcus Hook, your "cracking" capacity has been more than doubled within a year, and your company owns approximately one-twelfth of the aggregate "cracking" capacity operating and building in the entire country.

Important as these installations unquestionably are today, their earning capacity will be far greater under normal conditions.

Few, if any, refining and distributing companies are so well fortified with facilities for transporting petroleum products from refineries to points of distribution. Your company owns and operates more than 5,000 railway tank cars, with aggregate

Sir James Craig Miss Virginia C. Gildersleeve

A breach of friendly relations between England and the Irish Free State threatens unless Ramsay MacDonald, Labor Premier, compels Parliament to enact immediate legislation to settle the boundary dispute between the Free State and Ulster. carrying capacity of more than 43,000,000 gallons.

Your company has been steadily increasing its facilities for marketing its products directly to the consumer. This intensified development of your marketing organization has been confined to the sections most economically served from your refineries. In addition, through wholesale and package deliveries and through the agency of affiliated companies, Sinclair products are marketed in practically all parts of the United States and many foreign countries.

These, in brief are the things we have been building during the past eight years in line with the program adopted from the inception of the organization. Your company has advanced to a place in the oil industry, wherein its strategically located and well balanced facilities have established a sound foundation for the production of earnings commensurate with its large investments.

H. F. SINCLAIR, Chairman.

R. M. Andrews, Principal of the Mexia High School, is now en route home, following a Summer course of study he pursued in Chicago University. He is coming home by water and expects to reach Mexia within the next few days.

KARNAK SAVED THE DAY FOR HIM, SAYS ENGINEER

Oliver H. Bassett, engineer on the Southern Pacific and residing at 870 Harriott St., Beaumont, Texas, is another well known railroad man to personally experience the wonderful health building power of the celebrated new medicine, Karnak.

"When I began taking this medicine," says Mr. Bassett, "I was suffering just about as bad as any man ever did from stomach trouble. I had sour stomach all the time, no appetite, pains in my back like it would break in two, bloating, constipation and everything else that goes with chronic bad stomach. Food seemed to sour as soon as I swallowed it and I suffered tortures from bloating. My nerves were on edge all the time and I was so weak I could hardly climb into my cab.

"But Karnak proved the right medicine for me and I felt a wonderful change before the first bottle was gone. Four bottles have restored me to my old time health and strength in every way and I feel that I owe it to others to let them know how it will fix a fellow up."

Karnak is sold in Mexia by the Mexia Drug Co.—(Adv.)

NEW YORK COTTON EXCHANGE BLDG.

First prize for the best building erected in downtown New York during the year 1923 has just been awarded to the New York Cotton Exchange building. The award is made annually by the Downtown League of New York City.

Donn Barber, New York, is the architect who designed the building, the beauty of which has caused wide comment among architects and builders throughout this country and Europe.

In Boston the Harleston Parker Gold Medal has just been awarded by the Boston Society of Architects to Parker, Thomas & Rice for their design of the John Hancock Life Insurance building. The artistry of this striking building has likewise caused widespread interest.

Both prize winning structures are beautifully faced with Indiana limestone. This stone from the hills of the Hoosier state has entered into innumerable awards this year, and recently was chosen as the building material for the new Tribune Tower in Chicago, the architectural design for which brought prizes of $100,000. Architects are now using Indiana limestone more and more in facing buildings of other materials, because of the high merit of design.

New York's Cotton Exchange building is declared to be one of the most artistic structures erected in recent years.

CONCERNING ELECTIONS

It is at presidential elections that the country as a whole registers its largest vote. Then the issues are clearer cut and better understood than in the case in lesser elections and everybody who reads has a reasonably complete knowledge of the habits and characteristics of the opposing candidates. In the last Presidential elections, however, the percentage of those who stayed away from the polls was larger than ever before.

The country will be reasonably well governed if two thirds of the people vote, though less likely to be so, if all help choose officials and thus dictate policies. Where a minority chooses officials at the ballot box, misgovernment can naturally be expected frequently. That is the reason for run off primaries. It eliminates a minority candidate and permits the highest men and women to go before the people again to select the winner from the two.

It is the duty of every man and woman over 21 to go to the polls and express his or her choice of candidates. The fact that you do not like either candidate in some races is no reason for staying away from the polls. Go and let your conscience and your love for your country dictate your ballot and register no choice on the others, if you do not wish to do so. There'll be enough who do have a choice to determine the winner. Help your party nominate the right kind of officials. This is one of our parts in helping run the country.

PATRONIZING HOME SCHOOLS

According to reports from Texas colleges and universities, as well as from the lower schools of the State, the enrollments this year will be the largest in history. Dormitories will be crowded, class rooms will be taxed to capacity; additions will be made to faculties and new buildings in course of construction will be rushed to completion. This is as it should be, first because the Lone Star State is growing and next because the people of Texas are coming to realize that Texas institutions, like Texas industries, must be given their main support by the folks who make this state their home state. Texas has as good as the best and the only way to make the educational interests of the State better is to support them larger at home.

A great army of young folks recently graduated from the common and high school systems of Texas. Many of these have already entered into business and thus terminated at a youthful age their careers as students in the educational institutions of the land. Others have been lured by the call of pleasure to decide to stay out of the school room this coming season. This is unfortunate, indeed. The call of the future will be for men and women better qualified by educational training, as never before, and the bottom rounds will be so crowded that only the strongest can go on up to the top. Let Mexia parents urge their offspring to be among the fortunate ones. Let friends of the orphan urge him or her to go on to school.

PROGRESS THAT IS PLEASING

Coolidge business men and Coolidge citizens are looking forward to the busiest fall of their experience. The town is one of the cleanest and prettiest in Texas, located in the heart of as fine a farming section as a crow ever flew over. The streets are paved, the churches are magnificent and the homes are lovely. At present, repairs are being made to the school building which suffered fire damage near the close of the last school session. One would have to travel a long ways to find a town of 2,000 people that surpassed in citizenship and in progress this wonderfully favored community, our neighbor just over the goodly hill and homes of Tehuacana to the west. The people of Mexia are proud of the progress and growth of all of her neighbors.

"We haven't had a call for a humorist in five years," says the manager of a Chautauqua Bureau. Now just what does that mean? Has the American lost his sense of humor? The fact is, in the day of a million Fords and other motor propelled vehicles, when 43,000 people are killed annually by gas, 2,000 by asphyxiation, 1,000 in attempting to light it and 40,000 by stepping on it, life is too uncertain for a Chautauqua humorist to get very far.

Did you know that during the season closed last April 30th the states of Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Oklahoma, and Texas produced Cottonseed Oil that sold in its crude state for more than Fifty Million Dollars?

THE EDITORIAL OF THE DAY

UNITED FOR THE TICKET
(Coruscana Sun)

With unequalled endorsements of the Texas Unvian ticket by William G. McAdoo, Governor Smith, Senator Underwood and others in the Democratic National Convention, the ardent hopes of Democrats for the ticket would be salt water open have been shut off. It is not only because it was a approaches the campaign in the spirit and with no effort to better the cause of popular government. The lone candidate in the ticket could break the barrier of the mean e debate and discussion over principles and candidates gave Republican partisans fodder for their contentions that the Coolidge-Daw ticket was a walk-away. Now when prophets have to be revised confidence has given way to confusion and there is less cheer. It has been possible for these Democrats to accept the ticket enthusiastically not only because it was a ticket, but because fundamentally there are no differences between Democrats that cannot be reconciled in the fact of the minor

means to the country.

There are no differences among Democrats as to the need of re-establishing public confidence in the government. Democrats do not disagree over honesty and efficiency in public service. They do not quibble over the enormity of selling the public domain to private interests in return for loans to public servants. They cannot fall out over putting an instant end to the robbery of the disabled war veterans.

These and other outstanding offenses against the public committed by the Republican administration do not permit trivial disagreement to divide the Democrats and other American people from joining shoulder to shoulder in a determined effort to bring about a change.

It would have been agreeable for the apologists for governmental wickedness to smokescreen the issues with comment on acrimonious discussion at a political convention, of a party divided within itself, but nothing of that sort will conceal the fact that the Republican administration must answer for its sins.

RADIO AND BASEBALL

Radio is a subject of such world-wide interest at the present time that experiments being carried on by Wined Radio, Inc., in conjunction with The Staten Island Edison Company are of unusual interest.

How to cover the cost of providing suitable radio concerts to listeners has been a problem. It is agreed that baseball did not reach a high degree of development until it was "fenced in" so that an admission fee could be charged which would provide for the best talent. The fencing in of baseball has not interfered with the progress of amateur baseball but on the contrary, has developed an interest which has made all kinds of baseball more popular.

It is reasonable to suppose the same principle would apply to radio and that the highest degree of entertainment can only be provided by "fencing in" radio so that high grade broadcasting can be supported. Briefly, that is what Wined Radio, Inc., is seeking to perfect.

Wined radio which is sent over electric light wires is not a competitor of space radio for no method has yet appeared of putting space radio on a paid basis. Seemingly there is room for both types of radio to grow side by side, performing their different functions in their respective ways.

Attachments are being worked out in connection with wired radio which can be attached to the regular vacuum tube space set. Thus, by throwing the switch, the space set owner can intercept programs transmitted over lighting wires or programs sent through the air.

Every man should have a will of his own, even though he may have little to will.

The Question Of The Universe

This Bible—this miraculous Bible—this Book of All Books—luminous with the light that dwell-eth not on land or sea—this noblest and most beautiful Thing in all the world—what is it—whence cometh it—what means it?

WHAT HAS IT DONE?

It has made and unmade Nations. It has uprooted Kingdoms and Empires. It has diverted the mighty tides of History. It has crumpled ancient Faiths and Superstitions. Because of it fell Pagan Rome. The antique Systems of India and the Far East have bowed their heads to its enlightened sway.

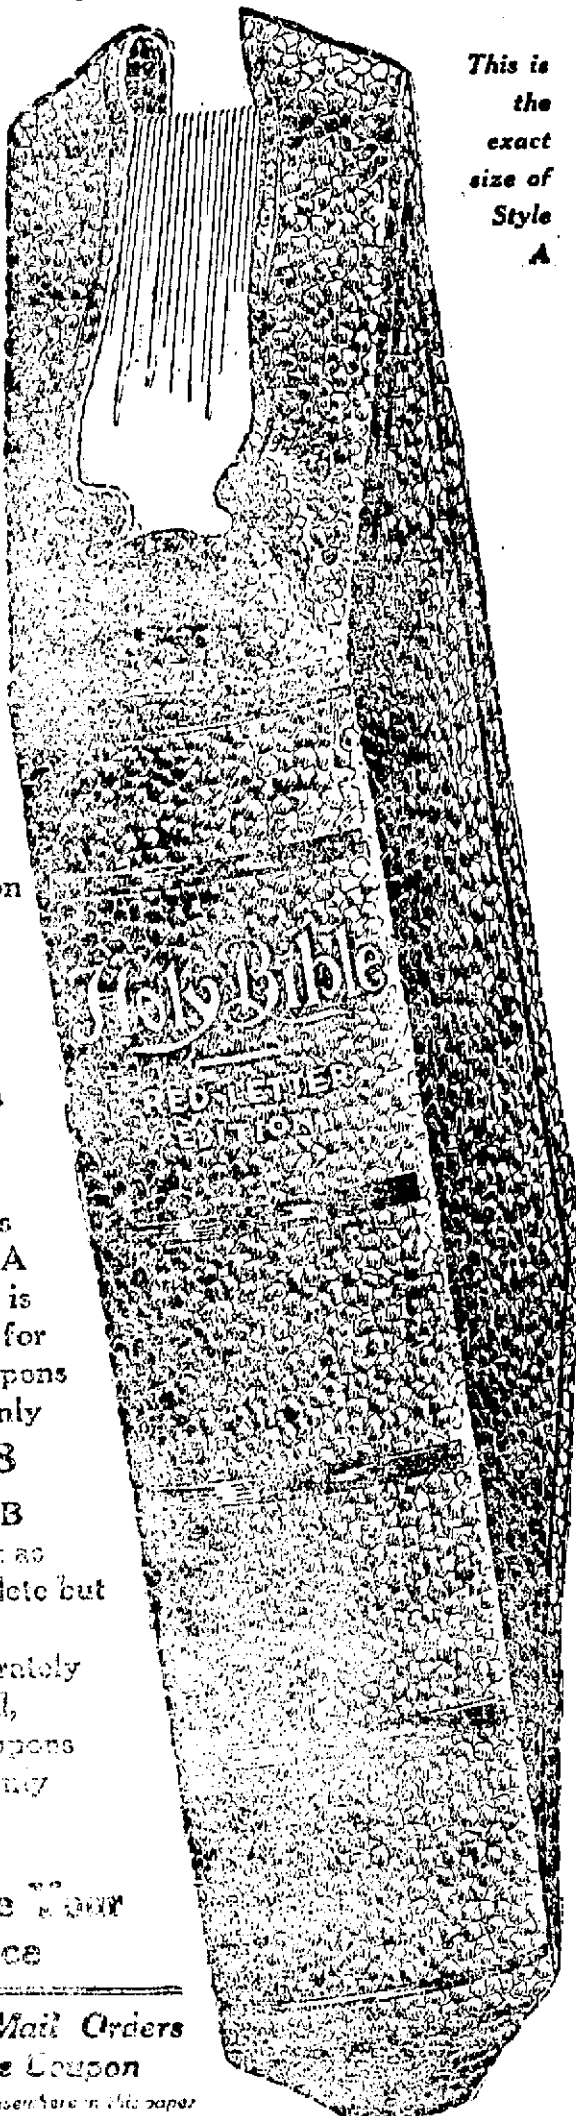

China and the Orient now first awaken from their sleep of thrice a thousand years, and follow their sister nations of the Occident—whose feet are guided by one sole lamp—the sacred flame of which was kindled by the inspired Hebrew Prophets, and fed for all time by the Lord and Master of the Golden Rule.

Only ignorance scoffs at the Bible! The greatest rulers—the greatest statesmen—the greatest scholars—writers—orators—scientists—soldiers—and the untold millions of the Common People, whose collective genius outweighs them all—have thrilled to its Divine Wisdom.

Its lyrics of unfathomable tenderness—its orations of compelling potency—its contemplative prose of preternatural grandeur—have never been equalled. Its emotional depths and its intellectual heights make it the one and only Book of Books, vouchsafed for the guidance of mankind throughout the ages.

SCIENTIST SAYS BOYS HELPLESS AND ARE NOT RESPONSIBLE

By EDWARD C. DERR
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb murdered 14-year-old Robert Franks, because they could not help themselves. The crime was the scientific climax and result of their boyhood impressions.

This is essentially the theory which Dr. William Healy of Boston prepared to expound as he took the witness stand for the defense before Judge John R. Caverly today.

Dr. Healy is the second of the medical witnesses placed on the stand by the defense in an effort to save the youthful slayers from the gallows.

Following the testimony of Dr. William A. White of Washington who said Leopold and Loeb lived in the "Land of dreams and unrealities," Dr. Healy will attempt to show by scientific diagrams that the boys "grew up" in crime and followed a path from which they could not depart. His testimony will be more specific than the "Phantom Life" story related by Dr. White, but will be built upon the foundation laid by the Washington alienist.

Approaching Leopold and Loeb from the psychometric standpoint—the measuring of their intelligence—he will explain that the criminalistic tendencies which Dr. White said started earlier in their boyhood was cultivated and grew until they could not be satisfied until they had perpetrated their "perfect crime."

Three or four additional alienists and psychiatrists are ready to follow Dr. Healy on the stand for the defense. Chief among these is Dr. Bernard Glueck of New York, a gland expert who will expound the "interlocking mentality" theory—a theory which shows the lives and characters of the two slayers hopelessly welded together. Neither could have committed murder alone but need the complementing factors of the other, Dr. Glueck will argue.

Today's session of court opened the third week of the hearing. Two weeks ago Clarence Darrow, chief defense counsel, sprang his sensational surprise, entering pleas of guilty for Leopold and Loeb and throwing the fate of the slayers upon the mercy of the court.

PARIS STYLE HINTS

By ALICE LANGELEIR
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Aug. 2.—Parasols are as pretty as ever this season. They may not be quite as numerous as in former years, but the blazing July sun has brought out a number of stunning sunshades for the races and the resorts will call out many more to shield soft skins from the glaring sands of Deauville or Le Touquet.

A few Japanese parasols were seen at the Drags on Friday, small but practical sunshades in bright designs of birds and flowers worn with pretty flowers frocks. They make a charming bit of color. Cretonne has again become the vogue for parasols and is durable as well as beautiful. There are frivolous parasols of paper for shore or field, mostly the product of the skilful Japanese. And there are charming carriage parasols, with a joint in the handle so that they can be tilted and not fatigue the fair bearer.

Shantung and taffeta, hand-painted in flower designs or in ornamental conventionalized patterns are in high favor. Plaid ones in tartan patterns have come in with the vogue for plaids.

BARON PLANS HIS WEDDING BY RADIO.

BARON VON GONTARD & BARONESS VON SCHILLING

When the liner George Washington was nearing New York Captain Harold Cunningham received a wireless message, asking if he would officiate at a wedding at Quarantine. The message was from Baron Adolphus von Gontard, grandson of Adolphus Buch, millionaire St. Louis brewer, who boarded the liner from a customs boat to greet his fiancée, Baroness Susanne von Schilling. As the liner was in territorial waters a license was necessary, so the wedding was delayed. The Baron wirelessed the New York City Marriage License Bureau to the Baron wirelessed the New York City Marriage License Bureau to keep open until the ship docked. This was done, the license issued, and the wedding solemnized. The Baron intends to become an American citizen.

and checks. There are also attractive ones in ribbons of two tones. Black and white is as popular for the parasol as for the gown. A white one seen at the races was square in shape, lined in black and fringed with black silk.

For the fluffy gown there is nothing as pretty as the tiny parasol of fine lace made over chiffon in white or pastel shades with soft ruffles and puffs and lace frillings. That they are tiny and dainty goes without saying. The large parasol seems to have gone forever.

The vogue for ostrich has also extended to parasols and there are delightful creations to be seen along the boulevards. The outer part comes of softly blowing long plucked feathers or little ruffles of ostrich bandings made over chiffon or lace linings. The Duchess Decazes carried one at the Grand Prix race with this order reversed. The ostrich brought to the inside as a becoming frame for the face and caught with narrow bands of galloon or strands of silk rosebuds. The chiffon was puffed on the outside. Tulle was treated in the same manner.

Missourians Are Ready To Ballot In Hot Campaign

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 4.—Candidates for state and national offices in three states—Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma—were winding up their campaigns today, prepared for the primary elections tomorrow.

Interest in Missouri centered in the gubernatorial contest where leaders of both major parties agreed that Dr. A. W. Nelson, Copper-coin farmer appeared to have the edge in the Democratic side while Sam A. Baker, former state superintendent of schools was the leading republican contender in Western Missouri at least.

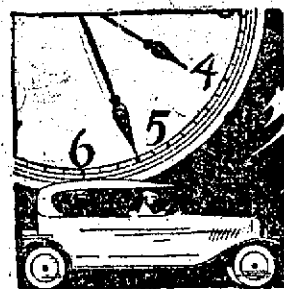

In Kansas, the Klan issue was injected into the republican contest for attorney general, Charles B. Griffin, who is seeking renomination being strongly opposed by the hooded order. Senator Arthur Capper, seeking the United States senatorial renomination, is opposed by Sheffield Ingalls on the republican ticket. Four candidates are in the democratic race for this office, Gov. Jonathan M. Davis is expected to be renominated for governor by the democrats.

Former Governor Jack Walton is furnishing the excitement in the Oklahoma campaign in his race for the democratic nomination as United States Senator. Walton, who is being bitterly opposed by the Ku Klux Klan, has made an active campaign against that organization. E. B. Howard, Tulsa, former congressman, was officially endorsed by the Klan last night as candidate for senator to oppose Walton.

M. E. C. S. CIRCUIT PARSONAGE IS NOW FREE OF ALL DEBT

Rev. and Mrs. G. W. Kincheloe leave Thursday morning for El Dorado, Arkansas, where they are to visit the next two weeks in the home of their daughter, Mrs. Virginia Todd. They are looking forward especially to renewing their acquaintance with their fine grandson, George Price Todd, and while there, Rev. Kincheloe will baptize the baby.

He stated before he left that the revival meetings this year for the Mexia Methodist Circuit, of which he is pastor, had had double the number of professions by faith over those of last conference year. He just closed the meeting at Forest Glade, which was conducted last week.

Rev. Kincheloe is much gratified at the lifting of the debt from the parsonage at Mexia. When he came to the circuit two years ago the parsonage into which he and Mrs. Kincheloe moved, in the South part of town, was about $1200 in debt. Through the zealous work of his membership at the various points of the charge and through the generosity of Ben Smith of Mexia, this load has been lifted and the entire debt paid. He states that Mr. Smith paid about $650 of this amount himself, and won the lasting gratitude of Methodist throughout the charge. At the quarterly meeting at Datura in July, resolutions of appreciation were unanimously passed, expressing the gratitude of the church to Mr. Smith, who had paid more than half of the church debt on the parsonage here.

Four of Bandits Who Shot Woman Were Executed

By ALFRED C. B. HART (United Press Staff Correspondent)

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 5.—Four of the agrarista bandits who shot and killed Mrs. Rosalie Evans, woman ranch owner and a British subject, were captured by federal scouts yesterday and summarily executed, according to private messages here today.

Mrs. Evans was murdered as she was returning to her ranch in Puebla Saturday and the payroll she was carrying was stolen.

Meantime the government was active in investigating the tragedy believing it may have been inspired by political plotters.

"The assassination of Mrs. Evans was planned in San Antonio, Texas," the newspaper El Sol said, intimating the crime was part of a plan of one of the revolutionary juntas to embarrass the Obregon Government.

American Consul General Jenkins has arrived in Mexico City from Puebla to give his report on the murder.

Minister of War Serrano and General Gomez and General Martinez held a conference on the situation at which it was decided to use wide-spread military measures to round up the agrarista bandits in Puebla and complete disarmament of the civilian population.

The Minister of Interior also gave a preliminary report on the tragedy to President Obregon. Later the President, in an interview with the United Press said:

"In the whole of my executive career I have never encountered a situation more disturbing or annoying. It is such assassins as these that are the worst enemies of Mexico. I can assure you the government will use its utmost efforts to eliminate the causes of these grave tragedies."

The President recalled that Mrs. Evans' dispute with the Government about her land was on the point of being settled when she was murdered. Even Mrs. Evans, herself, Obregon said, had come to the point where she admitted she was receiving fair treatment at the hands of the Government.

Generals Serrano, Gomez, Martinez and Robert Cruze, Governor of Puebla, have worked out a program for pacification of Puebla and punishment of the murderers, the President said.

British Consul King has taken charge of the investigation owing to what British residents consider the dilatatory tactics of the American Embassy. King said he will bring the body of Mrs. Evans to Mexico City despite the opposition of the Puebla authorities and will personally conduct an investigation aimed to place guilt on the real murderers.

Although British diplomatic affairs have been in the hands of the American Embassy since H. Cunard Cummins, British diplomatic agent, was expelled from the country it was said at the embassy that there was no statement on the assassination and it was admitted that efforts to have the body of Mrs. Evans brought to Mexico City for burial are in the hands of the British consul.

HOME DRESSMAKING

For English Young Moderns

By JEANNE ROLAND (Copyright 1924 by Pen-Art Service, Inc.)

inches wide with 1/2 yard of plain silk for the trimming.

The diagram shows the proper way to develop the pocket, the five principal steps of the work being illustrated. After deciding upon the shape of the pocket, mark on the garment the shape and the length (Fig. 1). Next, cut a piece of the same material as the dress, about two inches wider than the pocket and about an inch longer at either end, than the right side of the facing to the right side of the dress (Fig. 2). Match the grain, warp and woad of the material.

Turn the dress to the wrong side and make another row of busting stitches over the marking for the slash. Buste through dress facing. Turn the dress to the right side and machine stitch around the marked slash line. With a sharp instrument cut the pocket slash through both facing and garment, to within 1/4 of an inch of the ends. Then slash from this point diagonally to the corners. Remove bastings and draw facing through the slash. To give a well appearance to the pocket (Fig. 3) drop the upper portion of the facing downward and extend the lower portion upward. Baste these extensions close to the seam line. Next cut and sew the pocket (Fig. 4).

Make the set-in-pocket.

(V) and join one edge to the upper edge of the facing and the other to the lower edge with a well seam. Stitch the sides and finish the corners. When finished the pocket will look as it appears in Fig. 5.

One need never hesitate over the fashionability of any of the straightline dress, regardless of any for it is the one type of dress that Paris approves for all womankind. This design, though carried out in figured crepe de chine, is just as appropriate for the cotton fabrics or the silk and wool combinations. It has a panel front, with plain down either side. The belt extends around the sides and back of the dress and corresponds with the belt, pocket and collar, which are of plain material. For eight-year size, the dress calls for 2 1/2 yards of material 36

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Lieutenants Smith and Nelson, American world fliers, left Hornafjord, Iceland, for Reykjavik, the capital at 9:15 this morning, according to an Exchange Telegraph Company dispatch here.

ABOARD U. S. S. RICHMOND, Hornafjord, Iceland, Aug. 5.—(By Wireless to United Press.)—Today's lap of the American world flight, which was to be resumed by Lieutenants Lowell Smith and Eric Nelson if weather permitted was from Hornafjord, skirting the Iceland coast to Reykjavik.

The little naval flotilla that is guarding the route swung into position, the cruiser Raleigh acting as station ship at Hornafjord, the Billingsley going to Portland, the Reid to a point 20 miles off Reykjavik, while the scout cruiser Richmond, acting as flagship, was due at the fliers' destination at 2 p. m.

Conditions appeared fairly good for flying over the 310-mile route from Iceland, but those at Greenland, whither the airmen go next, were reported most unfavorable.

From now on there will be but two Americans world flight planes, for Lieutenant Leigh Wade has given up hope of rejoining his companions. His plane, the Boston, sank in the sea near the Faroe Islands.

"I am awaiting orders from the War Department," Lieut. Wade said. "But I see no possibility of continuing the flight unless another machine and parts were shipped to Kirkwall."

Limestone County will likely get its first bale within the next few days. First bales are coming in earlier this year than last, however, it is not expected that steady ginning will be any sooner. Rains over Texas in recent days have caused the prospects ahead of farmers to be darkened to some extent, as the wet weather suggests worms and weevils. No rain has yet fallen here.

CROWE BELIEVES HE CAN TURN DEFENSE IN TRIAL

By EDWARD C. DERR (United Press Staff Correspondent)

CRIMINAL COURTROOM, Chicago, Aug. 5.—Medical testimony introduced by the defense in the Leopold-Loeb murder hearing will be used against the youthful slayers of Robert Franks by Robert F. Crowe, state's attorney, according to plans practically completed today.

Crowe believes he can turn the defense evidence to the advantage of prosecution and force the question of the sanity of Nathan F. Leopold, Jr. and Richard Loeb before a jury.

The state has been given what Crowe terms a "solid grip" by the statement of Dr. William Healy, Boston psychiatrist, that the boys are mentally diseased and mentally unbalanced.

This analysis of the mental condition of the slayers "means nothing more nor less than legal insanity," Crowe told the United Press.

If he can't send the boys to the gallows, Crowe hopes to send them to an asylum for the Criminal insane. Crowe believes Dr. Healy's assertion shows beyond a doubt the need for a jury to pass on the mental condition of the boys. He also believes the evidence of the defense alienists will convince a jury the youths are insane. Crowe was jubilant at Dr. Healy's statement that the boys were unbalanced.

Clarence Darrow, chief defense attorney, however, showed little concern.

"If he thinks he can turn that against us, let him try it," Darrow said. "He won't get very far."

Further data on the sex life of the slayers is expected from Dr. Bernard Cuckey, psycho-analyst of New York. Dr. Cuckey has devoted much of his attention to the sex life of the youths as it is related to their criminalistic activities. Dr. Cuckey is expected to take the stand after Dr. Healy.

Justice Caverly is much disturbed by the flow of letters from all parts of the country; some of the letters demand hanging, others urge the insane asylum for the boys and still others as for mercy. Justice Caverly holds that the letter writers are open to charges of attempted intimidation of the court.

"Anybody who tries to influence the court is a violator of the law," Justice Caverly declared.

CORDOVA, Alaska, Aug. 5.—For the sake of the Royal Air Force I am sorry to have failed so. The condition of the plane makes it impossible for flying—Major A. Stuart MacLaren wireless to the British Air Ministry at London today from the British cruiser Thetysval.

BUREAU STATES NO CHANGE IN RESULTS WILL BE NOTED

DALLAS, Texas, Aug. 5.—Final official returns in the Texas primary will be available at 6 o'clock tonight, the Texas Election Bureau officials said at noon. No results were given out Tuesday but it was explained that the few incoming ballots failed to change the relative standing of candidates during the last twenty four hours.

Freestone Test Changes Hands

W. C. Guyler and C. H. Daniels of Tulsa, Oklahoma, are reported as having taken over the Edwards No. 1 acreage which was blocked several months ago by L. A. Smith of Teague. Mr. Smith is retained as Field Manager. The rentals are being revised, the acreage increased and the drilling contract amended to provide for deeper drillings. The hole was down about 1100 feet when drilling was discontinued and the new owners are expected to resume the Eastern Freestone County test within the next few weeks. The contract will call for 4500 feet according to reports. Mr. Guyler, heralded as a man of considerable experience in the oil game, in various fields of the southwest, says that the Edwards formation looks as good, if not better, than anything he has ever drilled. His operations have included drilling in such fields as the Chautauqua pool in Kansas, the Wan pool in Washington county, Okla., and in fields in Pennsylvania where he entered the oil business.

HOUSTON, Texas, Aug. 5.—Good news for income tax payers! Checks for the refund of 25% reduction of federal income taxes are being mailed by James W. Bass, internal revenue collector for the first Texas district.

Bass says his department is working overtime and at night to get the refund checks out as quickly as possible. The first checks were mailed July 29.

GROESBECK MAYOR IS SUPPORTING FERGUSON

Mayor L. L. Brown of Groesbeck, who managed Lynch Davidson's campaign in this county, says he will support Mrs. Miriam Ferguson for Governor against Felix D. Robertson. He predicts a landslide for Mrs. Ferguson in the Groesbeck box in the second primary. It is his opinion that 90 per cent of the Lynch Davidson votes and 95 per cent of votes polled by other candidates will be given to Mrs. Ferguson.

SINCLAIR TELLS WHAT MAKES COMPANIES STRONG

The following is a statement from New York City under date of Aug. 5, addressed by H. F. Sinclair, Chairman of Shareholders of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation, to his shareholders:

"At this juncture in the petroleum industry's progress, you may welcome an outline of the steps taken to protect your corporation's interests and assure full participation in the improved conditions which must come."

"My investment in the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation is in its common shares. Your interest and mine are identical."

"The omission of the common dividend was due to the desirability of conserving cash during the present unsettled condition of the industry as a whole."

"This unsettled condition is due to over-production of crude oil, accumulation of excessive stocks of refined products, and recurrent public agitation dictated in part by the selfish motives of demagogues and in part by the sincere criticism of those who do not understand the fundamental principles underlying the petroleum industry."

"The first two of these problems will find their own solution, but the third can be solved only by the public. An income statement of all petroleum operations in America combined, undoubtedly would show that the industry is operating at a loss. Demagogues are seeking to hold the industry to that level or force it even lower, and so long as the public gives them sympathetic, or even passive encouragement, they will continue more vigorously to attack not only the petroleum industry, but all other forms of business. Their course leads toward widespread unemployment, general weakening of the country's credit structure, lessened production of the necessities of life, poorer values and ultimate disaster to all American industries."

"Your corporation is sound; its earnings are increasing; and additional financing is not necessary."

"Under the adverse conditions of the first six months of 1921, the volume of sales increased 10 per cent, and operating expenses were relatively reduced. As a result, though prices were lower, the amount of earnings available for surplus and reserves, after deducting interest charges, was $9,053,102.99, as shown in the income statement herewith."

"While this gives evidence of the Company's ability to withstand adverse conditions, it does not reflect the Company's normal earning capacity which is much greater today than ever before. The Company's operations are now more perfectly balanced, its properties are larger and more efficient, and its organization is thoroughly co-ordinated."

"The elements of strength of a petroleum organization are:

(1) Extensive holdings in many producing and prospective oil fields, so as to avoid dependence upon any one or several fields;

(2) Facilities for gathering crude oil from its own and other producing properties and of storing large crude oil supplies above ground, as insurance against periods of shortage of production;

(3) Adequate and efficient facilities for transporting crude oil to refineries;

(4) Refining plants so elastic in their operation as to permit the use of various grades of crude oil and the maximum realization from each barrel run through them, and so located with respect to consuming centers as to assure delivery costs as low, if not lower, than those of competitors;

(5) Adequate and efficient facilities for transporting petroleum products from refineries to distributing centers;

(6) Distributing and marketing facilities economically and strategically located with respect to consuming centers and sufficiently extensive to be independent of conditions adverse to any local market."

After more than eight years of steady building, your company now possesses all of these elements in high degree."

In developing the first element of strength, the Company has obtained well distributed holdings in many of the largest oil fields of the United States and in the Republic of Mexico; extensive undeveloped acreage in these fields and in less important producing districts; and millions of acres of prospective oil fields strategically located in various quarters of the globe. The Company's crude oil production is being well maintained during the prolonged period of general over-production and should respond readily to aggressive drilling. The time will come when production throughout the world will be urgently needed."

In the last eight years, the Company's expenditure in obtaining and developing prospective foreign oil lands (exclusive of Mexico) through purchase or lease, or through concessions and concessionary contracts, have been less than 3 per cent. of the total capital expenditures. It is believed that it will share prominently in the world's future petroleum output."

The second and third elements of strength are provided by your company's 50 per cent interest in the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing Company and in the Sinclair Pipe Line Company."

The Sinclair Oil Purchasing Company buys crude oil from hundreds of producing properties, and has accumulated a large supply of crude oil above ground. Your company's cash investment were not bought for speculation. Prices of crude oil may go up or they may go down. A paper profit or a paper loss is unimportant. For any large petroleum organization a large storage supply of crude oil is as essential to permanent success as well equipped refineries. It is one of the most important bulwarks of the enterprise. No one can predict when it will be vitally needed, but it is there for use when conditions and prices justify."

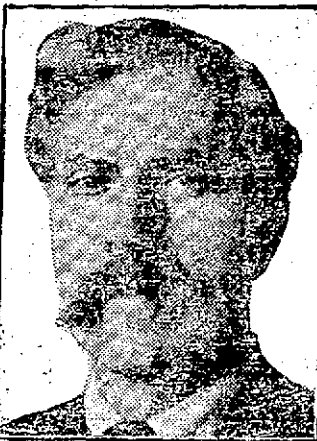

The facilities afforded by the Sinclair Pipe Line Company are as efficient as any in existence and adequately meet requirements."

A relatively short pipe line, owned 300 per cent by your company, trans-

Miss Virginia C. Gildersleeve

A breach of friendly relations between England and the Irish Free State threatens unless Ramsay MacDonald, Labor Premier, compels Parliament to enact immediate legislation to settle the boundary dispute between the Free State and Ulster. He has summoned a London conference, which will be attended by William T. Cosgrave, President of the Free State, but Sir James Craig, Premier of Ulster, may be kept away by illness. Miss Virginia C. Gildersleeve, dean of Barnard College, Columbia University, New York City, has been elected President of the International Federation of University Women, in session at Christiania, Norway.

ports part of the crude oil used by the Houston refinery; local Sinclair lines serve the refinery at Wellsboro, N. Y., while the maximum economy in the movement of crude oil to Mercur (New Orleans) and Marcus Hook, Pa., is by means of your company's fleet of tank ships. Your company owns and operates a pipe line of large capacity, employed to increase the efficiency of transportation from the Panuco fields to the company's ocean terminal near Tampico. Panuco oil, which is of heavy grade, is distributed from this terminal by Sinclair ships to consuming points in the United States and Latin America."

The Company's refining plants have been brought to a high state of efficiency. A 10,000 barrel unit at Houston was added and placed in operation in June, and the Marcus Hook plant should be ready for capacity operation by the end of the year."

Widespread misunderstanding results from judging the relative values of refining plants by comparing their rated capacities. A refinery can be built for a few hundred thousand dollars that could boast a "capacity" as great as one representing an investment of several millions; but under favorable conditions the cheap refinery would yield a smaller percentage of return on the investment, and under adverse conditions the cheap refinery could be operated only at a loss, while the other would yield a profit."

Your company's refining plants, operated on a basis to realize the carrying capacity of more than 43,600,000 gallons."

Your company has been steadily increasing its facilities for marketing its products directly to the consumer. This intensified development of your marketing organization has been confined to the sections most economically served from your refineries. In addition, through wholesale and package deliveries and through the agency of affiliated companies, Sinclair products are marketed in practically all parts of the United States and many foreign countries."

These, in brief are the things we have been building during the past eight years in line with the program adopted from the inception of the organization. Your company has advanced to a place in the oil industry, wherein its strategically located and well balanced facilities have established a sound foundation for the production of earnings commensurate with its large investments."

R. M. Andrews, Principal of the Mexico High School, is now en route home, following a Summer course of study he pursued in Chicago University. He is coming home by water and expects to reach Mexico within the next few days."

KARNAK SAVED THE DAY FOR HIM, SAYS ENGINEER

Oliver H. Bassett, engineer on the Southern Pacific and residing at 870 Harriott St., Beaumont, Texas, is another well known railroad man to personally experience the wonderful health building power of the celebrated new medicine, Karnak.

"When I began taking this medicine," says Mr. Bassett, "I was suffering just about as bad as any man ever did from stomach trouble. I had sour stomach all the time, no appetite, pains in my back like it would break in two, bloating, constipation and everything else that goes with chronic bad stomach. Food seemed to sour as soon as I swallowed it and I suffered tortures from bloating. My nerves were on edge all the time and I was so weak I could hardly climb into my cab.

"But Karnak proved the right medicine for me and I felt a wonderful change before the first bottle was gone. Four bottles have restored me to my old time health and strength in every way and I feel that I owe it to others to let them know how it will fix a fellow up."

Karnak is sold in Mexico by the Mexia Drug Co.—(Adv.)

Indians Scramble For Players For Dash To Pennant

By Hack

The Waco Indians continue in their wild scramble for players to strengthen their club for the final dash for the rag and from here it does not look so good for a sportsmanship standpoint. Regardless of what Jinx Tucker, Harry Dupuy or anyone else says the Indians are boldly violating both the salary and rookie rules in a way that leaves a bad taste with the better thinking fans about the circuit. This is no "howl" from a loser because we have lost many things before now that we craved and losing is no new sensation to us but I do believe that the T-A loop is getting a reputation of not living up to its rules and agreements that will eventually lead to the disruption of the circuit. The fact that Temple turned two of its best players over to the Indians is another fact that does not speak well for the Surgeon owners and anyone who tells you that Roy Storey and Gary Lacy are not good ball players and will not help the Indians don't know their onions. Temple fans got a raw deal when this was done and it shows that the Surgeons owners did not consider their rights when they sent these two players to the lousy Redskins. Temple had a splendid chance of getting out of the cellar and had been whipping Waco to a frazzle but now they must face the inevitable end of being a poor cellar club by giving their "punch" to a club that is not deserving of such help. I could name clubs that have begged the Mexia management for the use of Ted Jones, Seely and Jeffries but I won't name them but I will say that the Mexia management is composed of the best and cleanest sports that ever stepped in shoe leather and they informed those clubs that Mexia would not help them by turning over its stars to them and help them in their pennant scramble and for this very reason I say "hats off" to the Mexia sports who think first for the home fans and money as a secondary matter. What I want to know is where is the rookie and salary limit rules and what are we to expect of President Johnson in the matter. Show me a rookie on the Waco club and I'll treat the crowd. I know they claim that Hank Province is a rookie but it don't go down and Hank is the only one the Indians can lay any claim to. Anyway you want to take it, it is a raw, rotten deal to pull on the league and the addition of catcher Lothes from the Beaumont Texas League club only adds more dollars to the over salary limit Indians and makes a bigger joke of the rookie rule. I wonder what Waco would think if they saw Jeffries, Jones and Seely in the Marlin or Corsicana lineups and I wonder who would then let out a yell of indignation and claim "frameup" or "dirty baseball?" There sure would be gobs of weeping, wailing and gnashing of teeth if this should happen but they need not worry for the Mexia management are clean sports and even though the Gushers are not in the race they refuse to come down to a level with the Waco outfit by "getting a pennant at any price." Come on Jinx let's hear you pop off a lot of your silly, small town chatter about how "square"

Waco has been in a baseball way. Come on so we can all have a chuckle up our sleeve at your stuff. We know it is all bunk but at that we do get a good laugh at your attempts of defense of the Dupuy Dolls and "a laugh a day keeps the doctor away" these hot days—so come on and let's have your chatter and don't forget that we know that you know that the Waco club has and is now violating every rule the league has and the very same rules that Dupuy cried and plead for last winter.

Kansas Revivalists Ousted Sunday Game

TOPEKA, Kans., Aug. 5.—Peace was restored at Roseville near here where baseball fans clashed with churchgoers Sunday afternoon.

Noise from the game on an adjoining lot drowned out the revival minister's sermon. Members of the congregation called upon county authorities when players and fans refused either to stop the game or the attendant cheering.

The authorities ruled in favor of the revival and the ball players and spectators adjourned to another diamond, further removed from the church.

CONCERNING ELECTIONS

It is at presidential elections that the country as a whole registers its largest vote. Then the issues are clearer cut and better understood than in the case in lesser elections and everybody who reads has a reasonably complete knowledge of the habits and characteristics of the opposing candidates. In the last Presidential elections, however, the percentage of those who stayed away from the polls was larger than ever before.

The country will be reasonably well governed if two thirds of the people vote, though less likely to be so, if all help choose officials and thus dictate policies. Where a minority chooses officials at the ballot box, misgovernment can naturally be expected frequently. That is the reason for run off primaries. It eliminates a minority candidate and permits the highest men and women to go before the people again to select the winner from the two.

It is the duty of every man and woman over 21 to go to the polls and express his or her choice of candidates. The fact that you do not like either candidate in some races is no reason for staying away from the polls. Go and let your conscience and your love for your country dictate your ballot and register no choice on the others, if you do not wish to do so. There'll be enough who do have a choice to determine the winner. Help your party nominate the right kind of officials. This is one of your parts in helping run the country.

PATRONIZING HOME SCHOOLS

According to reports from Texas colleges and universities, as well as from the lower schools of the State, the enrollments this year will be the largest in history. Dormitories will be crowded, class rooms will be taxed to capacity; additions will be made to faculties and new buildings in course of construction will be rushed to completion. This is as it should be, first because the Lone Star State is growing and next because the people of Texas are coming to realize that Texas institutions, like Texas industries, must be given their main support by the folks who make this state their home state. Texas has as good as the best and the only way to make the educational interests of the State better is to support them larger at home.

A great army of young folks recently graduated from the common and high school systems of Texas. Many of these have already entered into business and thus terminated at a youthful age their careers as students in the educational institutions of the land. Others have been lured by the call of pleasure to decide to stay out of the school room this coming session. This is unfortunate, indeed. The call of the future will be for men and women better qualified by educational training, as never before, and the bottom rounds will be so crowded that only the strongest can go on up to the top. Let Mexia parents urge their offspring to be among the fortunate ones. Let friends of the orphan urge him or her to go on to school.

PROGRESS THAT IS PLEASING

Coolidge business men and Coolidge citizens are looking forward to the busiest fall of their experience. The town is one of the cleanest and prettiest in Texas, located in the heart of as fine a farming section as a crow ever flew over. The streets are paved, the churches are magnificent and the homes are lovely. At present, repairs are being made to the school building which suffered fire damage near the close of the last school session. One would have to travel a long ways to find a town of 2,000 people that surpassed in citizenship and in progress this wonderfully favored community, our neighbor just over the goodly hill and homes of Tehuacana to the west. The people of Mexia are proud of the progress and growth of all of her neighbors.

"We haven't had a call for a humorist in five years," says the manager of a Chautauqua Bureau. Now just what does that mean? Has the American lost his sense of humor? The fact is, in this day of a million Fords and other motor propelled vehicles, when 43,000 people are killed annually by gas, 2,000 by asphyxiation, 1,000 in attempting to light it and 40,000 by stepping on it, life is too uncertain for a Chautauqua humorist to get very far.

Did you know that during the season closed last April 30th the states of Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Oklahoma, and Texas produced Cottonseed Oil that sold in its crude state for more than Fifty Million Dollars?

THE EDITORIAL OF THE DAY

UNITED FOR THE TICKET
(Corsicana Sun)

With unqualified endorsements of the Davis-Bryan ticket by William G. McAtee, Governor Smith, Senator Underwood and other rivals in the Democratic national convention, the ardent hopes of Democracy's foes that the party would be split wide open have been shattered. The party approaches the campaign in fine spirit and with no rifts to hearten the enemies of popular government. The long convention, with its record-breaking number of ballots, the intense debate and discussion over principles and candidates gave Republican partisans fodder for their expectations that the Coolidge-Dawes ticket was a walk-away. Now their prophecies have to be revised. Confidence has given way to confusion and there is less cheer.

It has been possible for these Democrats to accept the ticket enthusiastically not only because it was a strong ticket, but because fundamentally there are no differences between Democrats that cannot be reconciled in the fact of the menace which continued Republican rule means to the country.

There are no differences among Democrats as to the need of re-establishing public confidence in the government. Democrats do not disagree over honesty and efficiency in public service. They do not quibble over the enormity of selling the public domain to private interests in return for loans to public servants. They cannot fall out over putting an instant end to the robbery of the disabled war veterans.

These and other outstanding offenses against the public committed by the Republican administration do not permit trivial disagreement to divide the Democrats and other American people from joining shoulder to shoulder in a determined effort to bring about a change.

It would have been agreeable for the apologists for governmental wickedness to smokescreen the issues with comment on acrimonious discussion at a political convention, of a party divided within itself, but nothing of that sort will conceal the fact that the Republican administration must answer for its sins.

RADIO AND BASEBALL

Radio is a subject of such world-wide interest at the present time that experiments being carried on by Wired Radio, Inc., in conjunction with The Staten Island Edison Company are of unusual interest.

How to cover the cost of providing suitable radio concerts to listeners has been a problem. It is agreed that baseball did not reach a high degree of development until it was "fenced in" so that an admission fee could be charged which would provide for the best talent. The fencing in of baseball has not interfered with the progress of amateur baseball but on the contrary, has developed an interest which has made all kinds of baseball more popular.

It is reasonable to suppose the same principle would apply to radio and that the highest degree of entertainment can only be provided by "fencing in" radio so that high grade broadcasting can be supported. Briefly, that is what Wired Radio, Inc., is seeking to perfect.

Wired radio which is sent over electric light wires is not a competitor of space radio for no method has yet appeared of putting space radio on a paid basis. Seemingly there is room for both types of radio to grow side by side, performing their different functions in their respective ways.

Attachments are being worked out in connection with wired radio which can be attached to the regular vacuum tube space set. Thus, by throwing the switch, the space set owner can intercept programs transmitted over lighting wires or programs sent through the air.

Every man should have a will of his own, even though he may have little to will.

The Question Of The Universe

This Bible—this miraculous Bible—this Book of All Books—luminous with the light that dwell-eth not on land or sea—this noblest and most beautiful Thing in all the world—what is it—whence cometh it—what means it?

WHAT HAS IT DONE?

It has made and unmade Nations. It has uprooted Kingdoms and Empires. It has diverted the mighty tides of History. It has crumpled ancient Faiths and Superstitions. Because of it fell Pagan Rome. The antique Systems of India and the Far East have bowed their heads to its enlightened sway.

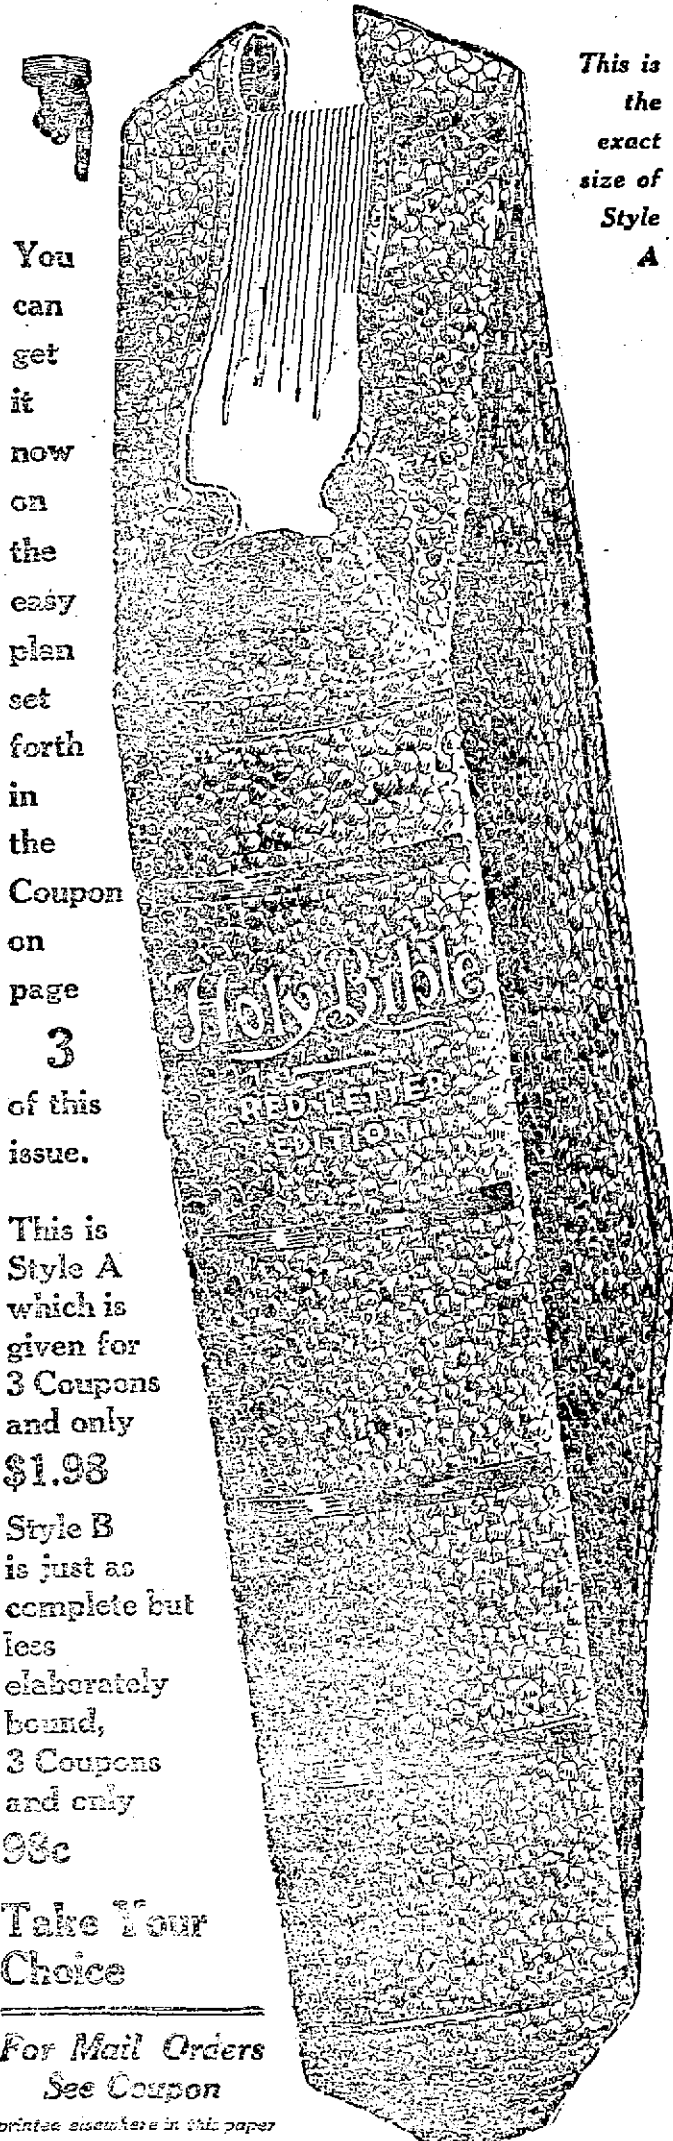

China and the Orient now first awaken from their sleep of thrice a thousand years, and follow their sister nations of the Occident—whose feet are guided by one sole lamp—the sacred flame of which was kindled by the inspired Hebrew Prophets, and fed for all time by the Lord and Master of the Golden Rule.

Only ignorance scoffs at the Bible! The greatest rulers—the greatest statesmen—the greatest scholars—writers—orators—scientists—soldiers—and the untold millions of the Common People, whose collective genius outweighs them all—have thrilled to its Divine Wisdom.

Its lyrics of unfathomable tenderness—its orations of compelling potency—its contemplative prose of preternatural grandeur—have never been equalled. Its emotional depths and its intellectual heights make it the one and only Book of Books, vouchsafed for the guidance of mankind throughout the ages.

SCIENTIST SAYS BOYS HELPLESS AND ARE NOT RESPONSIBLE

By EDWARD C. DERR
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb murdered 14-year-old Robert Franks, because they could not help themselves. The crime was the scientific climax and result of their boyhood impressions.

This is essentially the theory which Dr. William Healy of Boston prepared to expound as he took the witness stand for the defense before Judge John R. Caverly today.

Dr. Healy is the second of the medical witnesses placed on the stand by the defense in an effort to save the youthful slayers from the gallows.

Following the testimony of Dr. William A. White of Washington who said Leopold and Loeb lived in the "Land of dreams and unrealities," Dr. Healy will attempt to show by scientific diagrams that the boys "grew up" in crime and followed a path from which they could not depart. His testimony will be more specific than the "Phantasy life" story related by Dr. White, but will be built upon the foundation laid by the Washington alienist.

Approaching Leopold and Loeb from the psychometric standpoint—the measuring of their intelligence—he will explain that the criminalistic tendencies which Dr. White said started earlier in their boyhood was cultivated and grew until they could not be satisfied until they had perpetrated their "perfect crime."

Three or four additional alienists and psychiatrists are ready to follow Dr. Healy on the stand for the defense. Chief among these is Dr. Bernard Glueck of New York, a gland expert who will expound the "Interlocking mentality" theory—a theory which shows the lives and characters of the two slayers hopelessly welded together. Neither could have committed murder alone but need the complementing factors of the other, Dr. Glueck will argue.

Today's session of court opened the third week of the hearing. Two weeks ago Clarence Darrow, chief defense counsel, sprang his sensational surprise, entering pleas of guilty for Leopold and Loeb and throwing the fate of the slayers upon the mercy of the court.

PARIS STYLE HINTS

By ALICE LANGELEIR
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Aug. 2.—Parasols are as pretty as ever this season. They may not be quite as numerous as in former years, but the blazing July sun has brought out a number of stunning sunshades for the races and the resorts will call out many more to shield soft skins from the glaring sands of Deauville or Le Touquet.

A few Japanese parasols were seen at the Drags on Friday, small but practical sunshades in bright designs of birds and flowers worn with pretty flowers frocks. They make a charming bit of color. Cretonne has again become the vogue for parasols and is durable as well as beautiful. There are frivolous parasols of paper for shore or field, mostly the product of the skilful Japanese. And there are charming carriage parasols, with a joint in the handle so that they can be tilted and not fatigue the fair bearer.

Shantung and taffeta, hand-painted in flower designs or in ornamental conventionalized patterns are in high favor. Plaid ones in tartan patterns have come in with the vogue for plaids.

BARON PLANS HIS WEDDING BY RADIO.

BARON VON GONTARD & BARONESS VON SCHILLING

When the liner George Washington was nearing New York Captain Harold Cunningham received a wireless message, asking if he would officiate at a wedding at Quarantine. The message was from Baron Adelbert von Gontard, grandson of Adolphus Busch, millionaire St. Louis brewer, who boarded the liner from a customs boat to greet his fiancée, Baroness Susanne von Schilling. As the liner was in territorial waters a license was necessary, so the wedding was delayed. Then the Baron wired the New York City Marriage License Bureau to keep open until the ship docked. This was done, the license issued, and the wedding solemnized. The Baron intends to become an American citizen.

and checks. There are also attractive ones in ribbons of two tones. Black and white is as popular for the parasol as for the gown. A white one seen at the races was square in shape, lined in black and fringed with black silk.

For the fluffy gown there is nothing as pretty as the tiny parasol of fine lace made over chiffon in white or pastel shades with soft ruffles and puffs and lace frillings. That they are tiny and dainty goes without saying. The large parasol seems to have gone forever.

The vogue for ostrich has also extended to parasols and there are delightful creations to be seen along the boulevards. The outer part comes of softly blowing long plucked feathers or little ruffles of ostrich bandings made over chiffon or lace linings. The Duchess Decazes carried one at the Grand Prix race with this order reversed. The ostrich brought to the inside as a becoming frame for the face and caught with narrow bands of galloon or strands of silk rosebuds. The chiffon was puffed on the outside. Tulle was treated in the same manner.

Missourians Are Ready To Ballot In Hot Campaign

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 4.—Candidates for state and national offices in three states—Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma—were winding up their campaigns today, prepared for the primary elections tomorrow.

Interest in Missouri centered in the gubernatorial contest where leaders of both major parties agreed that Dr. A. W. Nelson, Copper-coin farmer appeared to have the edge in the Democratic side while Sam A. Baker, former state superintendent of schools was the leading republican contender in Western Missouri at least.

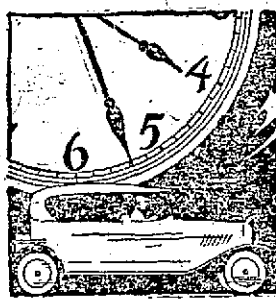

In Kansas, the Klan issue was injected into the republican contest for attorney general, Charles B. Griffin, who is seeking renomination being strongly opposed by the hooded order. Senator Arthur Capper, seeking the United States senatorial renomination, is opposed by Sheffield Ingalls on the republican ticket. Four candidates are in the democratic race for this office, Gov. Jonathan M. Davis is expected to be renominated for governor by the democrats.

Former Governor Jack Walton is furnishing the excitement in the Oklahoma campaign in his race for the democratic nomination as United States Senator. Walton, who is being bitterly opposed by the Ku Klux Klan, has made an active campaign against that organization. E. B. Howard, Tulsa, former congressman, was officially endorsed by the Klan last night as candidate for senator to oppose Walton.

BY HER MONOGRAM SHALL YOU KNOW THE GIRL OF TO-DAY

THERE is nothing retiring about the modern girl. She carries her visiting card, so to speak, on her sleeve. This is the day of the monogram, and milady counts that costume incomplete which does not carry somewhere on it her identifying monogram. Very often this monogram is the personal touch which gives the garment its greatest chic. Such is the case in this simple tunic blouse of white Mikrokrope whose graceful lines are glistening with ornamentation, but which makes effective use of contrast in the monogram on the scarf, done in dashing red to match the red leather belt. The scarf, as you will notice, is an integral part of the blouse, and may be worn thrown over the shoulder, or open. The blouse has an opening in the front which helps it to slip over the head easily, and is slanted on either side, to permit greater freedom. By the way, this blouse will be just as good looking done in beige with blue, or grey with green, or any one of a number of other combinations suited for wear in the fall months. Such a blouse might well be ventured by the home Columbus setting sail for the first time on the sartorial sea, for it is as simple as it is chic, and its accomplishment will certainly open new worlds of achievement to her.

FASHION REWARDS ITS JUNIOR DEVOTEES

A Miss is as good as a mile, according to the old saying. And in the world of fashion a Miss is quite as important as a Madam, even when she is only a very little Miss. Fashions for children occupy a large share of the designers' attention, and the results quite justify themselves for they are distinctive without being outre, and attractive without sacrificing that simplicity which is an essential. Take, for instance, this little dress of Frostkrope. It has the straight lines and the long waist which have almost become an article of faith in the little girl's wardrobe, but the imagination of the designer has enriched this basic pattern with a number of original style thoughts. The box pleats which make the skirt end in points something like the points of an old-fashioned picket fence, and these button themselves on the belt in a most delightful way. And then there is a bow—not in an obvious place at all, for this little dress has imagination. And so we find the bow at the neck—behind. It is a narrow bow of course, and its streamers are quite long, so that they fly merrily about as its small wearers skip along. The color scheme of the dress is charming. Almond green Frostkrope, with its characteristic sparkle, trimmed with white galons and buttons. It is a dress, too, which could be copied in other materials and darker colors, for early fall wear.

M. E. C. S. CIRCUIT PARSONAGE IS NOW FREE OF ALL DEBT

Rev. and Mrs. G. W. Kincheole leave Thursday morning for El Dorado, Arkansas, where they are to visit the next two weeks in the home of their daughter, Mrs. Virginia Todd. They are looking forward, especially to renewing their acquaintance with their fine grandson, George Price Todd, and while there, Rev. Kincheole will baptize the baby.

He stated before he left that the revival meetings this year for the Mexia Methodist Circuit, of which he is pastor, had had double the number of professions by faith over those of last conference year. He just closed the meeting at Forest Glade, which was conducted last week.

Rev. Kincheole is much gratified at the lifting of the debt from the parsonage at Mexia. When he came to the circuit two years ago the parsonage into which he and Mrs. Kincheole moved, in the South part of town, was about $1200 in debt. Through the zealous work of his membership at the various points of the charge and through the generosity of Ben Smith of Mexia, this load has been lifted and the entire debt paid. He states that Mr. Smith paid about $650 of this amount himself, and won the lasting gratitude of Methodist throughout the charge. At the quarterly meeting at Datura in July, resolutions of appreciation were unanimously passed, expressing the gratitude of the church to Mr. Smith, who had paid more than half of the church debt on the parsonage here.

Four of Bandits Who Shot Woman Were Executed

By ALFRED C. B. HART (United Press Staff Correspondent)

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 5.—Four of the agrarista bandits who shot and killed Mrs. Rosalie Evans, woman ranch owner and a British subject, were captured by federal scouts yesterday and summarily executed, according to private messages here today.

Mrs. Evans was murdered as she was returning to her ranch in Puebla Saturday and the payroll she was carrying was stolen.

Meantime the government was active in investigating the tragedy believing it may have been inspired by political plotters.

"The assassination of Mrs. Evans was planned in San Antonio, Texas," the newspaper El Sol said, intimating the crime was part of a plan of one of the revolutionary juntas to overthrow the Obregon Government.

American Consular agent Jenkins has arrived in Mexico City from Puebla to give his report on the murder.

Minister of War Serrano and General Gomez and General Martinez held a conference on the situation at which it was decided to use widespread military measures to round up the agrarista bandits in Puebla and complete disarmament of the civilian population.

The Minister of Interior also gave a preliminary report on the tragedy to President Obregon. Later the President, in an interview with the United Press said:

"In the whole of my executive career I have never encountered a situation more disturbing or annoying. It is such assassins as these that are the worst enemies of Mexico. I can assure you the government will use its utmost efforts to eliminate the causes of these grave tragedies."

The President recalled that Mrs. Evans' dispute with the Government about her land was on the point of being settled when she was murdered. Even Mrs. Evans, herself, Obregon said, had come to the point where she admitted she was receiving fair treatment at the hands of the Government.

Generals Serrano, Gomez, Martinez and Robert Cruz, Governor of Puebla, have worked out a program for pacification of Puebla and punishment of the murderers, the President said.

British Consul King has taken charge of the investigation owing to what British residents consider the dilatatory tactics of the American Embassy. King said he will bring the body of Mrs. Evans to Mexico City despite the opposition of the Puebla authorities and will personally conduct an investigation aimed to place guilt on the real murderers.

Although British diplomatic affairs have been in the hands of the American Embassy since H. Cunard Cummins, British diplomatic agent, was expelled from the country it was said at the embassy that there was no statement on the assassination and it was admitted that efforts to have the body of Mrs. Evans brought to Mexico City for burial are in the hands of the British consul.

For Stylish Young Moderns

Straightline Frock for Girls

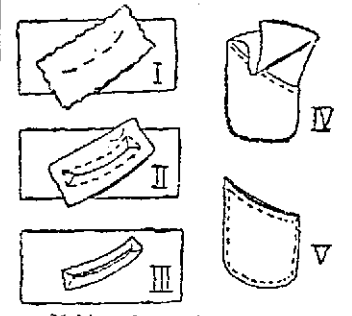

The straight young modern clings to straight lines and chic, obeying the mandate of Paris. This model, which features plaits, front and back, is suitable to development in any number of materials.

One need never hesitate over the fashionable cut of the straightline dress, regardless of age for it is the one type of frock that Paris approves for all womankind. This design, though carried out in figured crepe de chine, is just as appropriate for the cotton fabrics or the silk and wool combinations. It has a panel front, with plaits down either side. The belt extends around the sides and back of the dress and corresponds with the belt, pockets and collar, which are of plain material. For eight-year size, the dress calls for 2 1/4 yards of material 36 inches wide with 1/2 yard of plain silk for the trimming.

The diagram shows the proper way to develop the pocket, the five principal steps of the work being illustrated. After deciding upon the shape of the pocket, mark on the garment the shape and the length (Fig. I). Next, cut a facing of the same material as the dress, about two inches wider than the pocket and about an inch longer at either end, then baste the right side of the facing to the right side of the dress (Fig. II). Match the grain, warp and woof of the material.

Turn the dress to the wrong side and make another row of basting stitches over the marking for the slash. Baste through dress facing. Turn the dress to the right side and machine stitch around the marked slashed line. With a sharp instrument cut the pocket slash through both facing and garment, to within 1/4 of an inch of the ends. Then slash from this point diagonally to the corners. Remove basting and draw facing through the slash. To give a well appearance to the pocket (Fig. III) drop the upper portion of the facing downward and extend the lower portion upward. Baste these extensions close to the seam line. Next cut and sew the pocket (Fig. IV), and join one edge to the upper edge of the facing and the other to the lower edge with a well seam. Stitch the sides and match the corners. When finished the pocket will look as it appears in Fig. V.

Making the set-in-pocket.
